SR 302 Lesson I Text

GENERATIONAL CURSES

GENERATIONAL SIN – Exodus 20:5; 34:6-7; Deuteronomy 5:9-10 is the scriptural basis for this section of teaching. Many times the sin of an ancestor will leave the future generations open to demonic influence. These family or generational curses will leave future generations vulnerable to that temptation and, sooner or later, someone usually gives in to the temptation, thereby perpetuating the curse for another three or four generations. We have ministered deliverance to people who have had open doors in this area dating back many hundreds of years. We always need to understand that the people born with these open doors are not responsible for the curse, but they are responsible to seek forgiveness if they yielded to the temptation to repeat the sin.

Even if no one in the bloodline repeats the sin and perpetuates the curse, as long as it is in effect every member of the bloodline will have a “target” on them for people who do engage in the sin. So even if you do not repeat the sin of betrayal, you will have a target on you to be betrayed. This is one possible explanation for why bad things happen to some “good” people.

Many times birth defects are the result of generational sins. Sin can cause harm to the human body, including the DNA. Inherited infirmity and sickness is usually a direct result of a generational curse. What happens in the spiritual realm impacts the physical realm, and this is one area where that is made only too clear. Does this mean that if a child is born with a birth defect that it is anyone's fault? No. It is the enemy's fault.

The thing about any curse is that a curse exists to hold back a blessing. When the curse is lifted, the blessing is free to come. Also, since God is eternal and infinite, we can ask Him to heal the history of our family in these areas and to heal the effects of the curses. We can also ask the Lord of Justice for justice with regard to all that was stolen because of the curses.

Many Christian denominations teach when we become saved the generational curses are automatically done away. I wish this were the case, but in my experience it is not. One explanation may be that since we did not initiate the curse with our own behavior our own behavior cannot undo it. It was the decision of our ancestor(s) that caused the curse to alight on the bloodline and so it remains in effect until someone in the bloodline acknowledges the sin, repents for it and declares themselves free from it. I do not have all of the answers for this, except to recall the accounting of the blind man who Jesus healed. When the healed man was before the religious leaders answering for his healing, the man's reply was that he couldn't explain how or why he was healed, but what he did know is that, "once I was blind, but now I see." He didn't need the explanation. He was reveling in the reality of the experience. (Jn 9) Whether or not we have adequate understanding of why generational curses do not end when we are saved, the fact and the experience of being delivered out of them is reality. Once I was bound and now I'm free. Ask anyone who has been through this ministry and they will be able to tell you the same things. The question then remains, will we choose to stay bound because our "Greek mindset" requires an explanation, or will we simply choose to grasp hold of freedom?

Also, in our experience in this ministry, we have discovered that certain religions or denominations have beliefs and practices which, if not specifically acknowledged and repented of, carry a lack of freedom from specific mindsets. The specific ones revealed to us include Islam, certain doctrines of Catholicism, and a Judaic mindset (2 Corinthians 3:12-18).

The specific reasons Islam must be renounced are because of the statements of their religion that are avowed in their prayers and because of their beliefs about who Christ is.

The doctrines of the Catholic religion have mostly to do with the role of Mary the mother of Christ, the role of saints, and the investing of faith in certain objects. Catholicism is NOT a false religion. They know Who Christ is and what He did for us. But some of their doctrines are not scriptural and can create certain religious bondage.

The Judaic mindset has to do with the inability to leave behind a legalistic mindset and embrace the law of grace and the New Covenant.

If both parents of a child are free from generational curses, their children are also free. If their child has, however, reached the age of legal adult status, the child may need to go through the process. If a divorced parent has custody of a child they can stand for the child and have the curses of the other parent broken off. This has to do with legal standing and nothing more.

Following are the lists used to help identify generational curses. We do not have people renounce everything on the lists, but only what pertains to each individual as revealed in words of knowledge.

The following QUESTIONS will help to identify some AREAS THE ENEMY MAY BE USING to attack you.

Is there a history of mental illness in your personal history or in your family history?

Is there a history of any suicides in your family?

Have you ever thought about or attempted suicide? Do you sometimes have thoughts that it would be better if you were dead or had never existed at all?

Do you now, or have you or any of your family ever had a spirit guide or a 'special angel' who gave guidance and imparted information?

Have you ever heard voices making suggestions or arguing in your head and they weren't your voice and they weren't God's voice?

Do you feel confused most of the time? Do many members in your family seem confused or undecided much of the time?

Have you or anyone in your family ever had an abortion, encouraged someone to have an abortion or in any way participated in an abortion?

Are you or anyone else in your family prone to accidents?

Have you or anyone in your family ever thought they saw or made contact with aliens?

Is there a history of miscarriages, female problems, barrenness or impotence in your family?

Is there a history of chronic diseases or conditions in your family?

Is there a history of untimely deaths in your family? Do people tend to not have very long life spans?

Have there been any birth defects in your family?

Does alcoholism or drug addiction happen in your family?

Do you have a lot of allergies, especially ones that run in your family?

Is your life or your family life never at peace for any length of time before the next accident, illness, crisis or quarrel happens to someone?

Is there a history of abuse in your family? (This can mean physical, emotional, mental, sexual abuse, incest or rape.)

Does it seem like no matter what you do to try to make your life better, things just don't seem to work out?

Does it seem like you can't establish or maintain healthy relationships no matter how much you want to do so and no matter how hard you try – even within your family?

When people tell you, "I love you," do you ask yourself or wonder "Why?"

Is there any history of learning disorders in your family?

Have you ever been the victim of a violent crime or a series of violent crimes?

Do you always seem to be short of money even though you earn enough to meet your needs and you try to watch your spending? Does it seem as if there's a hole in your pocket that you can't find?
